According to Developmental Biology Interactive, if an egg becomes fertilized by multiple sperm, the embryo will then gain various paternal centrioles. When this happens, there is a struggle for extra chromosomes. This competition causes disarrayment in cleavage furrow formation and the normal consequence is death of the zygote.

Metaphors in biology are often encountered in the description of cell structure and function. Describing the cell as a “city” is a case in point as it offers a good opportunity to get students thinking about the structural and functional details of their knowledge as well as to require them to “think outside the box.”
