Well, I was thinking that each key would activate a different bending. In my mind, this would keep it simpler- one keybind for each bending. The avatar, therefore, would only have to press the correct key instead of having to cycle through each type of bending. Only 1 avatar- true, I'm not actually quite sure myself how I want to handle this.

Reading time: 10 minutes There are not many technologies that can brag about staying relevant for more than 20 years. But this year, Java was voted the 5th most popular technology, eclipsed only by undisputed leaders JavaScript, HTML, CSS, and SQL. While it's 18th on the list of most loved in the same StackOverflow survey, it's also way down the list in its most-dreaded ranking.
